A close-up photograph of a stone collection. A large, circular, light-colored stone slab with a mottled, natural texture is the central focus. Resting on the slab is a smaller, round, light-colored stone with a similar texture. The scene is lit from the side, creating a soft shadow of the smaller stone on the larger slab. The background is a blurred, light-colored surface, possibly another stone or a wall, with soft shadows. The overall aesthetic is minimalist and natural.
